

Three reasons to consider Putnam as your Stable Value manager

Putnam has over 25 years of experience managing stable value portfolios, and today manages nearly $10 billion in stable value assets. Over the past decade, we have seen stable value investment guidelines change substantially, becoming more condensed and restrictive. In this context, we believe our investment philosophy and practice — which favor liquidity and a rigorous investment process — make our stable value offering particularly attractive.

1. We have expertise across multiple fixed-income asset classes.

Putnam has one of the largest fixed-income investment management organizations in the industry, with over 90 investment professionals covering all market sectors. The group takes an independent view of risk that guides its fundamental research on markets and macroeconomics.

The stable value team is fully integrated within this organization and benefits from the skills of our sector specialist teams:

- Sector rotation
- Duration management
- Security selection
- Yield-curve positioning

2. The portfolio provides liquidity.

Our stable value portfolio is structured to create a stream of cash flows to satisfy liquidity needs. Generally, the management team seeks to have a portion of the portfolio — 1.5% to 3% — mature each quarter to replenish the cash buffer. This feature enables us to provide ample liquidity to fund any participant activity and allow for greater flexibility with the 12-month put.

3. The strategy pursues diversification.

We believe that a diversified investment strategy utilizing multiple stable value investment options is optimal for managing stable value portfolios. This includes cash alternatives, traditional GICs, and wrapped, actively managed strategies. Our strategy generally reflects a larger traditional GIC allocation than other strategies available in the marketplace. These features of our portfolio construction help us pursue consistent liquidity, as well as robust diversification, portfolio stability, and attractive levels of income.

Consider these risks before investing: The fund seeks capital preservation, but there can be no assurances that it will achieve this goal. The fund's returns will fluctuate with interest rates and market conditions. The fund is not insured or guaranteed by any governmental agency. Funds that invest in bonds are subject to certain risks including interest-rate risk, credit risk, and inflation risk. As interest rates rise, the prices of bonds fall. Long-term bonds are more exposed to interest-rate risk than short term bonds. Unlike bonds, bond funds have ongoing fees and expenses. Lower-rated bonds may offer higher yields in return for more risk. Funds that invest in government securities are not guaranteed. Mortgage-backed securities are subject to prepayment risk. The use of derivatives involves additional risks, such as the potential inability to terminate or sell derivatives positions and the potential failure of the other party to the instrument to meet its obligations. The fund may be exposed to risks associated with the providers of any wrap contracts (synthetic GICs) covering with the fund's assets, including credit risk and capacity risk. Our investment techniques, analyses, and judgments may not produce the outcome we intend. The investments we select for the fund may not perform as well as other securities that we do not select for the fund. We, or the fund's other service providers, may experience disruptions or operating errors that could have a negative effect on the fund. You can lose money by investing in the fund.
