Putnam Global Health Care Fund

Investing in the health-care sector since 1982

A dynamic sector

From biotech and drugs to devices and hospitals, the fund invests in industries that can profit from the global demand for health care products and services.

A global approach

To seek the best opportunities, the fund's managers have the flexibility to invest in stocks from around the world.

Active management

The managers, supported by experienced research analysts, combine rigorous fundamental research with macroeconomic views to pinpoint opportunities across the sector.

Growth of a $10,000 investment

The fund has returned an average of 11.8% annually since inception.

Plotted on a logarithmic scale so that comparable percentage changes appear similar.

Current performance may be lower or higher than the quoted past performance, which cannot guarantee future results. Share price, principal value, and return will vary, and you may have a gain or a loss when you sell your shares. Performance of class Y shares assumes reinvestment of distributions and does not account for taxes. Class Y shares, available to investors through an asset-based fee program or for institutional clients, are sold without an initial sales charge and have no CDSC. Performance for class Y shares before their inception are derived from the historical performance of class A shares (inception 5/28/82), which have not been adjusted for the lower expenses; had they, returns would have been higher. The MSCI World Health Care Index (ND) is a free float-adjusted market capitalization weighted index that is designed to measure the equity market performance of developed markets in the health-care sector. You cannot invest directly in an index.

Beta measures volatility in relation to the fund's benchmark. A beta of less than 1.0 indicates lower volatility; a beta of more than 1.0, higher volatility than the benchmark.

Not all share classes are available on all platforms.

Consider these risks before investing: International investing involves currency, economic, and political risks. Emerging-market securities carry illiquidity and volatility risks. Investments in small and/or midsize companies increase the risk of greater price fluctuations. The health care industries may be affected by technological obsolescence; changes in regulatory approval policies for drugs, medical devices, or procedures; and changes in governmental and private payment systems. The fund concentrates on a limited group of industries and is non-diversified. Because the fund may invest in fewer issuers, it is vulnerable to common economic forces and may result in greater losses and volatility. Growth stocks may be more susceptible to earnings disappointments, and value stocks may fail to rebound. The use of short selling may result in losses if the securities appreciate in value. Risks associated with derivatives include increased investment exposure (which may be considered leverage) and, in the case of over-the-counter instruments, the potential inability to terminate or sell derivatives positions and the potential failure of the other party to the instrument to meet its obligations. Stock prices may fall or fail to rise over time for several reasons, including general financial market conditions, changing market perceptions, changes in government intervention in financial markets, and factors related to a specific issuer or industry. You can lose money by investing in the fund.
