Putnam Intermediate-Term Municipal Income Fund

A national portfolio of intermediate-term municipal bonds seeking tax-free income with moderate interest-rate sensitivity

Tax-advantaged income

Pursues income free from federal income tax with a portfolio of municipal bonds selected from many states and market sectors.

Focus on total return

Seeks to offer a competitive yield and the potential for price appreciation while striving to protect investors' capital through prudent security selection and active risk management.

High-quality, intermediate-term portfolio

The national portfolio features a range of high-quality, intermediate-term bonds that seek to provide tax-free income with moderate interest-rate sensitivity.

Fund description

The fund offers investors a national portfolio of intermediate-term municipal bonds (maturities of 3 to 10 years on average) that help provide high current income exempt from federal income tax (but that may be subject to the federal alternative minimum tax).

The fund's managers will combine fundamental research and risk management to construct a portfolio that generally will seek a high rate of tax-free income with less volatility than longer-maturity

Average effective maturity depends on the maturity of the underlying bonds within each fund. The longer the maturity, the greater the interest-rate risk. Average stated maturity is determined based on the legal final maturity of a bond. Duration to worst is the duration of a bond computed assuming the bond is called at the worst possible time and uses the date associated with the lowest yield. Depending on the interest-rate environment and structure of the bond, there may be scenarios in which the worst possible time for the bond to be paid off is the maturity date. Option adjusted duration is the modified duration of a bond after adjusting for any embedded optionality.

Tax-free funds may not be suitable for IRAs and other non-taxable accounts.

Consider these risks before investing: Consider these risks before investing: The value of investments in the fund's portfolio may fall or fail to rise over extended periods of time for a variety of reasons, including general economic, political or financial market conditions, investor sentiment and market perceptions, government actions, geopolitical events or changes, and factors related to a specific issuer, geography, industry or sector. These and other factors may lead to increased volatility and reduced liquidity in the fund's portfolio holdings. Bond investments are subject to interest-rate risk (the risk of bond prices falling if interest rates rise) and credit risk (the risk of an issuer defaulting on interest or principal payments). Interest-rate risk is generally greater for longer-term bonds, and credit risk is generally greater for below-investment-grade bonds. Unlike bonds, funds that invest in bonds have fees and expenses. Tax-exempt bonds may be issued under the Internal Revenue Code only by limited types of issuers for limited types of projects. As a result, the fund's investments may be focused in certain market segments and be more vulnerable to fluctuations in the values of the securities it holds than a more broadly invested fund. Interest the fund receives may be taxable. Capital gains, if any, are taxed at the federal and, in most cases, state levels. For some investors, investment income may be subject to the federal alternative minimum tax.
