Putnam Sustainable Future ETF (PFUT)

Investing in companies creating solutions to essential sustainability challenges

Solutions focus

The portfolio invests in companies whose products and services provide solutions to essential sustainability challenges.

Active strategy

A framework grounded in fundamental research and focused on forward-looking sustainability themes drives investment decisions.

Experienced team

An experienced, dedicated sustainable investing team is integrated with Putnam's equity research and quantitative/risk analysis groups.

Why ETFs?

• Cost competitive

ETFs may reduce costs to investors, with a simplified fee structure compared to alternatives.

• Tax efficient

The structure of ETFs can reduce the impact of capital gains distributions relative to other investment vehicles.

• Intraday liquidity

ETFs trade at any time of day, offering convenience and price clarity when buying and selling.

Why active?

• Potential for outperformance

Active strategies aim to outperform passive indexes through investment research and portfolio positioning.

• Active risk management

Proactive analysis helps to identify better risk-reward potential than an index offers and seeks to reduce unintended risks.

• Professional oversight

Experienced portfolio managers balance risk and return while delivering the ETF's structural benefits.

Why PFUT?

Companies solving challenges

PFUT invests in companies whose products and services provide solutions that directly contribute to sustainable social, environmental, and economic development.

All market-cap sizes

The fund seeks long-term capital appreciation by investing in common stocks of U.S. companies of any size.

Growth stocks

PFUT invests in companies solving sustainability challenges, typically through stocks with earnings growth rates above the market average.

Sustainability advantages

The portfolio managers believe that considering financially material environmental, social, and governance (ESG) factors can improve the ability of the fund to generate outperformance.

This ETF (exchange-traded fund) is different from traditional ETFs. Traditional ETFs tell the public what assets they hold each day. This ETF will not. This may create additional risks for your investment. For example:

- You may have to pay more money to trade the ETF's shares. This ETF will provide less information to traders, who tend to charge more for trades when they have less information.
- The price you pay to buy ETF shares on an exchange may not match the value of the ETF's portfolio. The same is true when you sell shares. These price differences may be greater for this ETF compared to other ETFs because it provides less information to traders.
- These additional risks may be even greater in bad or uncertain market conditions.
- The ETF will publish on its website each day a "Tracking Basket" designed to help trading in shares of the ETF. While the Tracking Basket includes some of the ETF's holdings, it is not the ETF's actual portfolio.

The differences between this ETF and other ETFs may also have advantages. By keeping certain information about the ETF secret, this ETF may face less risk that other traders can predict or copy its investment strategy. This may improve the ETF's performance. If other traders are able to copy or predict the ETF's investment strategy, however, this may hurt the ETF's performance.

For additional information regarding the unique attributes and risks of the ETF, see disclosure on the back and the Principal Investment Risks section of the prospectus.

A research team with diverse skills

Our team has a unique, integrated process for understanding sustainability in the context of each company they research.

Katherine Collins, CFA, MTS, Head of Sustainable Investing

Experienced as an equity analyst, portfolio manager, and head of research at Fidelity, Katherine founded and led Honeybee Capital, a sustainable research firm, before joining Putnam in 2017.

Stephanie Dobson, Portfolio Manager

Stephanie brings together experience in interpreting and applying ESG data with skills in fundamental analysis and valuation of companies.

Consider these risks before investing: The value of investments in the fund's portfolio may fall or fail to rise over extended periods of time for a variety of reasons, including general economic, political, or financial market conditions; investor sentiment and market perceptions; government actions; geopolitical events or changes; and factors related to a specific issuer, geography, industry, or sector. These and other factors may lead to increased volatility and reduced liquidity in the fund's portfolio holdings. Growth stocks may be more susceptible to earnings disappointments and the market may not favor growth-style investing. Investments in small and midsize companies increase the risk of greater price fluctuations.

From time to time, the fund may invest a significant portion of its assets in companies in one or more related industries or sectors, which would make the fund more vulnerable to adverse developments affecting those companies, industries, or sectors. International investing involves currency, economic, and political risks. Investing with a focus on companies whose products and services produce positive environmental, social, and economic development impact may result in the fund investing in certain types of companies, industries, or sectors that underperform the market as a whole. In evaluating an investment opportunity, we may make investment decisions based on information and data that is incomplete or inaccurate. Due to changes in the products or services of the companies in which the fund invests, the fund may temporarily hold securities that are inconsistent with its sustainable investment criteria.

Our investment techniques, analyses, and judgments may not produce the outcome we intend. The investments we select for the fund may not perform as well as other securities that we do not select for the fund. We, or the fund's other service providers, may experience disruptions or operating errors that could have a negative effect on the fund. You can lose money by investing in the fund.

You should consider the fund's investment objectives, risks, charges, and expenses carefully before you invest. This and other important information is contained in the fund's prospectus available on Putnam.com or by calling 1-833-228-5577. Please read carefully before you invest.
