Disclosure for ERISA 408(b)(2) Reporting

A. Background

Section 408(b)(2) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended (“ERISA”), requires a “covered service provider” to a retirement plan (“Plan”) to disclose the compensation that it receives in connection with providing services to the Plan. Putnam Fiduciary Trust Company (“PFTC”), as trustee of the Putnam S&P 500 Index Fund (the “Fund”), in which your Plan has invested, is a covered service provider. This report is designed to meet Putnam’s disclosure obligations under ERISA Section 408(b)(2). Please review it in combination with the Plan’s participation agreement (or investment instructions) as well as the offering statement, declaration of trust, and most recent annual report for the Fund.

B. Explanation of Services

The Fund is a collective trust established and maintained by PFTC, a non-depository New Hampshire trust company. As trustee, PFTC is responsible for making investment decisions for the Fund and managing the Fund’s other affairs and business. PFTC invests the assets in accordance with the investment objective of the Fund, which is described in detail in the offering statement.

PFTC has contracted with its affiliate, PanAgora Asset Management, Inc. (“PanAgora”), to provide certain non-discretionary investment advisory and administrative services to PFTC in connection with the Fund. The fees for these services will be borne by PFTC.

C. Fiduciary Status

PFTC is a fiduciary for the Fund, and accordingly, for your Plan with respect to the assets invested in the Fund. PanAgora is a fiduciary for your Plan and is an investment adviser registered under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940.

D. Compensation

Management Fee. Your plan pays a management fee equal to 0.08% of the plan’s assets invested in the Fund. This fee is deducted from your assets in the Fund. A portion of the fee may be applied to payments made by PFTC to financial advisors, or other service providers for marketing and servicing expenses and plan administrative costs, as directed from time to time. For more information, see the section entitled “Fees” in the Fund’s offering statement.

The Fund also bears other expenses, as described further in the offering statement and annual report, such as audit fees. For information on the Fund’s Total Annual Operating Expense Ratio, which includes each of these expenses, please refer to Section E, “Investment Disclosures” below.

Bank Account Earnings. PFTC and its affiliates may earn additional compensation in the form of “float” (income earnings or bank fee credits) generated from clients’ balances in the Putnam bank accounts used for Fund subscriptions and redemptions/distributions. The item numbers in the description below correspond to the disclosure requirements listed under the "Obligations of Service Providers" as set forth in the Department of Labor's Field Assistance Bulletin 2002-3.

1. Disclose the specific circumstances under which float will be earned and retained.

All Fund contributions, distributions, and transfers processed by Putnam as trustee of the Fund are initially deposited in one or more non-interest bearing, omnibus demand deposit accounts ("DDA"). The funds remain in the DDA only to the extent needed to process the particular transaction, as described in items 2 and 3 below.

A portion of the balance in the DDA at the end of each business day may be invested on an overnight basis in a money market mutual fund or other short term investment vehicle. The balance not invested remains in the DDA as a "buffer" for subscription/redemption activity. Balances invested overnight generate a short-term investment return.

Under current practice, any residual balances in the DDA that are not invested overnight (which tend to be small) generate bank fee credits, which are used to offset general banking expenses of Putnam. Accordingly, to the extent the float reduces these expenses, it forms part of the compensation payable to PFTC or its affiliates for the services it provides to the Fund.

2. In the case of float on contributions pending investment direction, establish, disclose and adhere to specific time frames within which cash pending investment direction will be invested following direction from the plan fiduciary, as well as any exceptions that might apply.

Generally, there is no float when a contribution is made to the Fund because Putnam receives the contribution or other transfer and completes the purchase and settlement (i.e. settles with the Fund) on the same day. If, however, there is a delay in the settlement (for example, if the order comes in late or funds are received without corresponding instructions), there would be float as described above for as long as the trade is delayed.

Putnam agrees to adhere to the foregoing procedures.

3. In the case of float on distributions, disclose when the float period commences (e.g., the date the check is requested, the date the check is written, the date the check is mailed) and ends (the date the check is presented for payment). Also disclose, and adhere to, time frames for mailing and any other administrative practices that might affect the duration of the float period.

Generally, there is no float when a redemption or transfer is made from the Fund because Putnam receives the request for distribution and completes the disbursement and settlement on the same day. If, however, there is a delay in the settlement (for example, if the transaction request comes in late), there would be float as described above for as long as the trade is delayed. In such case, the money is held in the DDA where it earns float until the settlement.

Dividends paid by the Putnam collective trust funds, if any, are currently settled same day and, as a result, typically would not generate float.

4. Disclose the rate of the float or the specific manner in which such rate will be determined. For example, earnings on cash pending investment and earnings on uncashed checks are generally at a money market interest rate.

Amounts that are invested on an overnight basis are invested in a money market mutual fund or similar investment vehicle selected by PFTC or its affiliates from time to time. Overnight investment returns are generally at money market rates. Currently, overnight balances are invested in a government money market mutual fund that returned 0.01% for the one-year period ended March 31, 2016. For information about the most recent returns and investment vehicle, please contact Putnam.

Under current practice, any residual balances in the DDA that are not invested overnight do not earn explicit interest or other amounts; instead, the float is used to offset general banking expenses of Putnam based on a "credit" rate set by the bank holding the account. This credit rate is generally higher than overnight interest rates by a small margin (for example, based on a 3-month Treasury Bill rate after deducting a margin for bank capital requirements).

Soft dollar arrangements. Equity trading performed with respect to the Fund is performed by PanAgora, an affiliate of Putnam. In connection with such trading, PanAgora may receive "soft dollars" from broker-dealers with which portfolio trades are placed.

Consistent with section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and subject at all times to its duty to seek to achieve best execution, PanAgora may obtain brokerage or research products or services from broker-dealers in connection with placing securities transactions on behalf of clients through "soft dollar arrangements". The broker-dealers who would likely be payers of such compensation are Barclays, Bernstein & Co., Citigroup, HSBC, Instinet, Investment Technology Group, ISI Group, Jefferies, JP Morgan, Liquidnet, Merrill Lynch, MKM, Morgan Stanley, UBS and Weeden.

This is a benefit to PanAgora since PanAgora would otherwise have to produce or pay for these services or products. Such products and services may include, but are not limited to, fundamental research reports (both third party and proprietary), technical and portfolio analyses, pricing services, economic forecasting and interest rate projections, historical and statistical securities information and computer software that assist PanAgora's investment management process. During the past fiscal year PanAgora obtained the following with client brokerage commissions: market and securities data, access to analytical tools and proprietary research. Certain of the brokerage or research products or services received with respect to commissions paid by certain accounts may benefit other accounts under the management of PanAgora. Broker-dealers who provide such services may receive a commission which is in excess of the amount of the commission another broker-dealer may have charged if in the judgment of PanAgora the higher commission is reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage or research products or services rendered. PanAgora may have an incentive to select or recommend broker-dealers based on PanAgora's interest in receiving the research or other products or services which could differ from a client's interest in receiving most favorable execution. Soft dollar arrangements are internally reviewed, and will be reviewed periodically, to determine if the products or services are needed, whether such products or services provide legitimate assistance in the investment decision making process, and the reasonableness of the commissions paid in relation to the value of the products or services. In addition, in certain instances, PanAgora receives access to certain proprietary research tools from executing broker-dealers. However commissions paid to such broker-dealers are not in excess of the amounts other broker-dealers would charge for the same transaction. These benefits are used in the servicing of all client accounts, not just those that paid for the benefit.

For future changes, please refer to the Fund's most recent Schedule C Disclosure provided by Putnam.

Gifts and Entertainment. PFTC may receive indirect compensation from parties other than the Plan or the Fund in connection with managing the Fund. Putnam employees, including portfolio managers, may receive limited gifts and entertainment from third parties. Under Putnam's policies and procedures, any gifts and entertainment must be of a reasonable value so they do not influence the nature of the investment advice given to clients, the selection of broker-dealers to execute portfolio trades, or other business decisions.

Termination. There is no fee for termination of services provided by PFTC.
